

Health experts to public: Please remain terrified - we desperately need it for our professional survival!

As of April 7, 2021, the Government of Ontario, Canada, like other regions in the world, enforced another lockdown with a stay-home order. The stated reason is that the number of "cases" (not infections, illness, hospitalization, or ICU occupancies) has increased above a magical number, and the projections look worrisome.

Unfortunately, the ongoing somewhat lenient lockdown failed to create enough fear in people to "behave." Lack of presumed obedience has created a problem for maintaining the people's "safety" (read people are not showing enough interest or trust for the experimental vaccines).

For health experts, it is considered a hindrance in promoting vaccines. Understandably, vaccines have been developed without virus specimen availability, and by extension, without confirming the existence of its illness or pandemic. Further, vaccines have not been assessed and approved based on usual and current regulatory standards and safety and efficacy requirements. Also, it is understood that claims are valid that the virus has never been seen. Its isolated specimen is not available, or its link to the associated illness/pandemic has not been scientifically established.

However, diseases and treatments are needed to maintain the professionals' upscale lifestyle. Please, help – by remaining fearful and terrified. Get a vaccine as soon as possible, and please do not ask questions as correct or honest answers would not be available or provided.

Healthcare professionals are supposed to take care of people's illnesses for which they are trained. However, the public does not realize that the healthcare profession has transformed into developing, manufacturing, and marketing medicines, which are admittedly mixtures of pure and highly potent chemicals.

The experts have never been trained for such and seriously lack appropriate experience and expertise in the areas mentioned above. Therefore, it should be expected that false claims would be made and irrelevant and inadequate quality products will be manufactured and delivered. However, it is a very lucrative business model to pass for providing a very high steady stream of wealth.

Note that, in general, vaccines are not for the sick people but mainly for the healthy ones and all seven billion of them. The sick people market is relatively tiny or insignificant and is not cost-effective or profitable. For vaccination, people do not need to be ill to be treated; everyone would require medication worldwide.

It is an ingenious business model but would not be acceptable to the public. So, pandemic scare with the offering of vaccine treatment has opted. Also, such medications provide a steady income because creating new viruses and their variants is relatively easy. They can easily be made with computer modeling and simulation and on-demand. Hence, the modified vaccines and booster shots will always be needed for a large population.

We fully understand that the test (PCR) use to establish the virus and pandemic is useless and irrelevant. It has never been validated for the virus or its associated illness. People ask that this test be removed; however, such a request is unacceptable as it is the only tool available to establish fear and scare in people. Also, this is the only tool available to create non-existent viruses and illnesses or pandemics on demand.

It is impossible to work without it, particularly when the test can be adjusted to give the desired outcome if and when needed. Please, do not ask for the removal or validation data of this test. The whole thing will collapse abruptly, along with the destruction of our professional credibility and existence. Healthcare experts are fighting a war for their professional survival!

We need to win this war quickly because challenges and court cases are building up against this practice. We will undoubtedly lose these challenges quickly because of a lack of scientific evidence supporting the virus and its associated illness or pandemic - hence the urgency.

We are so highly indebted to government authorities worldwide for their support in developing and establishing laws for creating fear and implementing vaccination policies at lightning speed. Thank you!

So, in the end, once again, please remain fearful and terrified - spread them to your loved ones as well. Everyone should take the vaccine quickly. Please, please!
